"BEFORE AND AFTER" SCENES SHOW HOW RECENT CLEAN-UP WEEK GOT RESULTS

Among those who cooperated to the fullest in the recent Appomattox Clean-Up Week were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Robertson. The two pictures above show their Custard Bar yard on Route 24, "Before and After" their cheerful cooperation with the Clean-Up Committee. Their fine example should inspire others in and around town to keep the community looking attractive to guests and visitors.

Pamplin

Pamplin, May 7.- Mrs. Carl Evans and daughter, Judy, have returned to their home in Union, N. J., after spending several weeks with relatives here.

KITE FATAL TO BOY

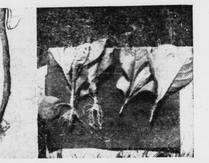
Montrose, Pa.- William Kropa, 7, and his smaller brother, Ronald, were flying their kites in a field near their home. William suddenly pulled a kite away from his brother as it neared a high tension power line. However, the kite cord containing small wire strands, fell on the line and transmitted the current to William, electrocuting him.

PERFUMED BUS FUMES

Detroit.- A formula to blend a fragrant deordorant with exhaust fumes has been devised by technicians of General Motors, and it may be that the aroma of roses may soon filter from city buses. The mixture is dispensed by a cylinder.

ROAD ALLOCATIONS

Allocations totaling $79,192,026 for construction on Virginia's interstate, primary, and urban roads were approved May 3 by the State Highway Commission.



PROPER TRANSPLANTING SAVES TOBACCO TROUBLES

The first transplanting has a lot to do with the success or failure of a tobacco stand.

Tobacco specialists at VPI say when there is a lot of replanting to do, the result is an uneven crop. With different sized plants, cultivating will be harder. And priming will cause trouble because leaves from the same positions on the stalks will not mature at the same time. Since leaves from different stalk positions will be cured together, sorting and preparing tobacco for market will take more time.

Here are some suggestions for a successful first transplanting.

Be sure the fertilizer does not come in direct contact with the roots of the plants.

Grade the plants as they are drawn from the bed and use only those that are stocky, uniform in size, and free of disease and insect injury.

Do not let the roots of the plants dry out between the time the plants are drawn and the time they are planted in the field.

If the plant bed is dry at transplanting time, be sure to wet it thoroughly with clean water before drawing plants. This will prevent breaking off fine feeder roots which the plants must have to withstand the shock of transplanting and to become quickly established.

If wirgworms are a problem use chlordane, heptachlor, aldrin, or lindane in your transplant water. Dipping the roots in transplant solution is not recommended.

Colored Dots

1st Lieutenant Charles O. Jeffries spent the week-end here with his grandmother, Mrs. B. J. Pierce. He was promoted to the rank of First Lieutenant on March 21, by the U. S. Army. Jeffries is now stationed at Fort Lee, Va., and is Company Commander of 210 enlisted men of the Quartermaster Regimental School.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

Listen Youth!

You are standing on the threshold of life. Only two roads lie before you. One of them seems very pleasant and easy to travel but it will not always be so. There are swamps and morasses along the way in which hidden dangers lurk.

Many groups of young people have started down this road that seemed so fair to them. But alas, they have been overcome by enemies who came to them in the guise of fair friends. They promised them pleasure if they would but yield to their seductions.

Some of these young people who started upon the wrong road have turned back and have gotten into the right road. But those who heedlessly remain on the wrong road will find out, when it is too late, that they are hopelessly entangled in the morass of bad habits, shattered health and weakened will.

Listen youth! It is fashionable to drink cocktails today. There are many parties and social gatherings where alcohol is served. You'd better let it alone. It is one of the chief enemies that you will encounter upon the wrong road.

Alcohol seems to be such a jolly good fellow. He's wearing a mask. If you cultivate him, that pleasing face will change, and someday you will know him for the fiend that he is.

If the world had no fanatics, eccentric and partisans, life would be rather dull and tiresome.

Those who bemoan the money being spent for defense ought to try to estimate the cost of another war.

Did you ever take time to realize how good the average person is, and how anxious most of them are to be helpful?

ASTRONOMY LECTURE TO BE GIVEN

A Picture Lecture entitled "God and The Stars will be given at the Seventh-day Adventist church Friday night, May 10 at 8 o'clock.

Pastor W. P. Lawrense said that actual photographs taken through giant telescopes will take the audience on a journey to within 31 miles of the moon. Also the planetea, comets, and stars will be seen. A small telescope will be on display and if the night is clear permission may be given for some to look through this instrument to see the wonders of the Heavens for themselves. There will be no charge —however, a free-will offering will be taken.

DEATHS

HENRY C. HOLESAPPLE

Menry Carl Holesapple, 64, husband of Mrs. Maude Wooldridge Holesapple, died at his home here Sunday morning, after having been in declining health for the past five years.

Born in Caldwell, W. Va., he was the son of the late Nelson and Belle Bennett Holesapple.

He was retired president of Skyline Lumber Company, of Roanoke, of which he served for 26 years, retiring in 1951 due to poor health. He was a member of the Virginia Heights Masonic Lodge No. 324, of Roanoke and had been for a number of years an active member of the Kazim Temple of Roanoke.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by two sisters, Mrs. L. A. Wood, of Dayton, O., and Mrs. Zella Carter, of Ronceverte, W. Va., and two nieces and three nephews.

Funeral services were conducted at the Robinson Funeral Home here Tuesday at 3 P. M., with burial in Liberty Cemetery.

Funeral services were conducted by Reverends J. E. Darden and E. R. Wooldridge. Miss Peggy Godsey played the organ. Pallbearers were: S. A. Carter, Jr., G. M. Carter, Kenneth Reed, Edward Wooldridge, William L. Watson and Kenneth Cooksey.

H. L. CUNEO

Hudson Lewis Cuneo, 72, died Monday in a Staunton hospital. He had been ill three years. Born in Campbell County, March 9, 1884, he was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis A. Cuneo. He was a Baptist.

Surviving are his wife, Ruth White Cuneo; six sons, Marcus and Watson Cuneo, Spout Spring; Eugene Cuneo, Indiana; Harry, Otis and White Cuneo, Appomattox, and by four daughters, Miss Annie Ruth Cuneo, Stonewall; Mrs. T. R. Moore and Miss Gertie Cuneo, both of Appomattox, and Mrs. J. O. Mayberry, Spout Spring, and 12 grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted from Robinson Funeral Home, Appomattox, at 3:30 P. M. May 1, by the Rev. Colin Godwin. A solo was sung by John Hall, and Miss Peggy Godsey played the organ. Interment was in Liberty Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Frank Moore, James Moore, Hubert Gallier, Emmett Ayers, V. D. Thomas and Willie Mitchell.
